MESTING OF THE DIRECTORS OF COLORED SCHOOLS.—The Board of Directors of the Colored Schools met last night. The attendance was full, and the monthly report was read and adopted. The schools are in good condition, although just at present the attendance is small, in consequence of the fear of small-pox.

Young Msn's Gymnastic Association. The Young Men's Gymnastic Association last night opened their new rooms in the Commercial Building, corner of Fourth and Race. The room is in the fourth story of the building, 112 feet long by 45 wide, and 16 high. The bathing apartments are situated immediately above these and are commodious and neat. and neat.

A Man Attempts the Lipe of His Wife.
A German named Johan Brandaker, who resides on Front-street, between Vine and Race, attempted to take the life of his wife, last night, by beating her on the head with a club; and he would, no doubt, have accomplished his purpose had it not been for the interference of persons brought to the spot by the cries of the unfortunate woman. Policemen were immediately sent in pursuit of Brandaker, who fled, and up to a late hour last night had not been arrested.

SCHOOL BOARD-PROCEEDINGS LAST NIGHT SCHOOL BOARD—PROCESSINGS LAST NIGHT. The principal part of the session of the School Board last night was occupied in hearing the teachers' monthly reports, and discussing the report of the Finance Committee, made at the last meeting, recommending a special levy of one and six-tenth mills on the dollar of taxable property in the city for school pur poses.

The report of the Committee was finally The report of the Committee was finally adopted. The Superintendent's report for the month of April was read, and shows that there were 18,750 enrollments in all the schools during that period, and that the average daily attendance was 11,955. The Librarian's report for the same time shows an aggregate circulation of 8,364 volumes.

Wood's THEATER,-Mr. Elisler, the mana-WOOD'S THEATER.—Mr. Ellsler, the main-ger of this popular establishment, will have a bounds this evening. His management of Wood's Theater has been quite successful, and he deserves as audience which shall testify fully that his efforts have been appreclated. The entertainment will con-tist of The Serieus Family-in which Mr. and Miss Richings will appear—and Rip Van Winkle, and we carnestly hope the house may be crowded.

Congray was Evening.—A Concert will take place

CONCERN THIS EVENING.—A Concert will take place this evening. for the benefit of the First United Presbyterian Church, on Sixth-street, between Race and Elm. Prof. Baldwin, assisted by seventy-five singers, have selected an excellent programme for the occasion, and as the proceeds are to be devoted to the payment of the debt of the congregation, we have no doubt the andience will be very large.

SUCREASTION FROM MR. BLEELER.—We publish the following communication in regard to an article in yesterday's Parss from motives of justice to all the parties concerned in this exceedingly unpleasant affair. The source whence we derived our informaaffair. The source whence we derived our informa-tion we regarded as entirely reliable; but being aware that "one story is good until another is told," we gladly give place to Mr. Elister's denial. If we had had the eligitiest doubt that the desseuse at Wood's Theater had been struck by one of the at-teches of the establishment, the article never would have appeared. In regard to the pallisting circum-stances, we did not care to know them, for we felt certain they would not justify the act, no matter what they were. The following note, however, will, we hope, repair any injury that may have been done-

To the Editors of the Press:

Having observed in the Press of this morning article headed "An Alleged Outrage upon a light of the same," I deem it my duty, not alone to syeelf, the same," I deem it my duty, not alone to syeelf, the samewhat mythical personage alloided to, for this the charge asserted by one with whom I have no issue. The gentlemanly writer of the no referred by, gives me the benefit of an "if," would have been a kindness first to have institutionary into the circumstances of the case, prise inserting an article of inplerant abuse. I do sight to impute, to him that he has committed with the my entiley, but that he has given to public an article, whose fundancles are lead to the inference that the ladies a gentlemen outgaged in the theater would stay and see an outrage committed by one is reflection from which I would acquit all. That the has been a greas and wanton misrepresention truth is evident to those contected with the theat after properties of the setablishment, and have used language, upon being so tufurned, of not a most police institute, was told that her services con and would be dispensed with. These who are in after can satiefy devicedity by calling at the B Office.

SUPERIOR COURT Room No. 1.—Beyone Judge Storer.—The notion docket and demurrers were called. Room No. 2.—Berone Judge Hoadly.— Ienkle es. Harbason and others. Judgment or plaintiff. Langdon for plaintiff, McGuf-ey for defense.

George Sleiner vs. The Home Insurance Company. Petition to recover on a policy of insurance.

On a demurrer to an amended answer the question arose, whether upon the insured premises becoming untenanted, and the risk thereby was increased the defendants became discharged from liability on the policy?

The Court held that where the vacation of the premises was but temporary, the Insurance Company would not be discharged.

Demurrer sustained, and leave to amend answer. Tilden, Rairden & Tilden for plaintiff; Burrows for defendant.

General, Term.—Barone Judges Spencer, Hoadly and Stoner.—The Court sat and called the docket, but no special business was transacted.

HAMILTON COUNTY DISTRICT COURT.

The argument in the Runyan Will Case occupied the day. Judge Collins limited the counsel to three hours on each side.

Another Jury will be empannelled to-day.

A young woman named Georgiana Briscal, a native of Canada, was found upon investigation to be insane, and was sent to the Asylum at Carthage. um at Carthage.

COVINGTON NEWS.

POLICE COURT.—A man named Antonio arter was sentenced to the Chain-gang for Carter was sentenced to the Chain-gang for sixty days, by Mayor Foley, yesterday.

BURGLARY.—The cellar of Miss Haines, principal of the Judsonian Female Seminary, was entered on Thursday night last, and robbed of about forty pounds of lard, and a quantity of other provisions.

PARADE OF THE KENTUCKY GRAYS .- The Kentucky Grays made an excellent appearance, while parading the streets, yesterday. They exhibited a very perfect knowledge of military tactics, for a company so lately or-ganized, and will, we believe, fully justify the confidence recently reposed in tham by the Governor, in mustering them into the State guards. They were accompanied by Menter's

Band, and their march was enlivened by excellent martial music. Two MEN DROWNED .- Two young men, Geo. Hightower and Wm. Nickerson, were drowned in an eddy, in the Licking, near the mouth of Grassy Creek, about sixteen miles above this place, on Sunday last. They went to the river for the purpose of bathing, but as they did not return at the hour ex-pected, their friends visited the river, and found their dead bodies, at no great distance from each other, and in water that was not more than four feet deep. By what fatality they were both drowned in water so shallow, is beyond conjecture. CUSHMAN PARDONED.—G. W. Shooting Apprax.—A shooting affray, in which a man named Michael Reed received a dangerous, if not fatal wound, in the head, occurred on McCartha-street on Sunday morning last. From all that we could learn, it appears that Reed was inebriated and visited the house of one Wm. Garrett, about two o'clock in the morning, and demanded admittance into the house, which was recused; whereupon he attempted to force the door. Garrett ordered him away, but without success; he then drew a revolver and fired four shots, one of which took effect in his head, near the right car, and it is feared the head, near the right ear, and it is feared the wound will prove fatal. Gurrett has not yet been arrested.

The private bill for the relief of General Johnson was passed.

Mr. Anthony presented a remonstrance of the patentees for mechanics against such an alteration of the patent laws as shall take from the applicants the right of appeal from the decision of the Commissioner.

Mr. Davis spoke in favor of his resolutions, which he said were a mere announcement of the principles of the Constitution. Our present political difficulties he contended were the same which the founders of the Government had encountered. He would not, however, argue about natural inherent rights, but would plant himself on the Constitution which all have sworn to support. That Constitution is the law of every American, and no question outside the forms of law and order is contained in it. One great source of our difficulties he contended, is the theory that our Government is the Government of one people instead of a compact ment of one people instead of a compact between seperate sovereignties. The desire of separate and independent communities brought about the early settlement of this continent.

of separate and independent communities brought about the early settlement of this continent.

The Declaration of Independence was not for colonies united, but for each colony separate; and the Constitution was not by the people en masse, but by the States severally.

Mr. Davis sustained these propositions by various historical illustrations, and he closed this branch of the subject by contending that States could at any time when deemed necessary, resume the powers which they had only delegated to the general government. After referring to cotton as the great bond of union between States, Mr. D. referred incidentally to the question of protection, asserting that the general government had no power to limit the importations of any State, and asking if the States are to be taxed for this protection, by what right is slave property deprived of its benefit. On this issue, after days of discussion, he saw the Democratic Convention at Charleston broken up. He had faith, however, that the Democratic party still lived.

Mr. Davis referred to the fourth and fifth resolutions, which asserted the right of slave property to protection in the Territories, contending that it was the duty of Congress to see that the protection was awarded. He also combatted at length the doctrine of squatter-sovereignty, denying that non-intervention, as formerly understood, took from Congress all right to legislate with regard to slavery. He quoted Henry Clay to show that he, who was the originator of the doctrine, never gave it the interpretation claimed by the advocates of popular sovereignty. His remarks were continued to some length, but much of his speech was inaud.ble.

The Speaker complained of indisposition.

Brown replied to a remark of Mr. Davis, that the second resolution of his series.

The Commercial on Italian Affairs.

CIRCINIATI, May 5, 1800.

To the Editors of the Daily Press:

I beg leave to draw your attention to an ugly circumstance which I have detected in the Commercial's persistent abuse of the Government of the Huly See. Its mischievous article of this day fortnight first caused me to suspect a disposition on the part of its conductors to exaggerate the foreign reports of current events in Italy. I make no charge against it on the soure of predilection; for no one can accuse that paper of a friendly feeling toward Catholicity; but that it should carry its predilection to feul play, to historic perversion, if out to historic fibrication, I never thought I could establish from two of its articles so conclusively as I think is abown in the following letter to its editors. This letter they refused to print, though having published my former one, not, however, without a yard and a quarter of editorial dilution. They have even subterfuged me out of the manuscript after a promise to return it, and though I have sent for it six times. Permit me, then, to recall it from memory as well as I can.

April 2, 1860.

It was not my intention to obtrude myself a second time upon your notice, or that of your readers, in the matter of my recent reply to your dangerous article of Saturday week, although your accompanying strictures of a column and a half on that reply afforded me ample opportunity of dealing very severely with them. I let them pass, however, as time, and to tell my mind, inclination give me no stomach for newspaper correspondence; and if I return to the unpleasant topic now, it is because you have returned to it first, by a qualified repetition in your leader this morning, of the charges to which I then replied, and which I thought I had sufficiently disposed of. As, doubtless, no authority I can produce, no matter how literally quoted, and no matter how identified with your "side of the house," will have so much weight with you as the authority of yourselves, permit me, then, to quote yourselves, permit me, then, to quote yourselves, permit me, then, to quote yourselves, the second sentence in your leader of the 21st ultimo, which provoked my former letter, is this:

"One hundred and forty-seven persons were reported as killed by the surgical officials of the Roman Government liself."

Now, gentlemen, so long as that as ertion from your own pen is to be found at your side in this controversy—quot scriptum est manti—I have got a very ugly grip of you, for no such report has been made by those officials! and to save your character from even the suspicion of fabrication, on so serious a point, you were bound to give your authority. You have at last done so in your article of this day, and I beg to express my obligations for your great candor in giving it so literally. You say: "The assertion that 'no life was taken, and only twenty-five persons were slightly wounded, is disproved by the following, published in the London Time."

"The surgical reports of the Roman Government, made up to the 22d ultimo, show that one hundred and forty-seven had been takeled and wounded in the outbreak on the 19th March."

So, now, i

however, I attach the more significance, it being the anniversary of the Holy Father's return in 1850.

You next quote a whole placard from the walls of Rome, purporting to be one of the revolutionary proclamations, and you argue from it intrinsic evidence of moderation and respectable intentions; but you neither give its date nor the circumstances which called it forth. I regret to say, gentlemen, that your leaders compel me to think you pay your intelligent readers very poor compliments. Now, what is the fact, in the present instance? Why, just this—that very "proclamation," which you praise for moderation, and whose date, let me tell you, was Lady Day, was a second thought issued with all haste on that morning, to counteract another and prior proclamation from the same party, which breathed, so to speak, fire and thunder, challenging the gendarmary to a trial of strength, by defying that force to put down another revolutionary demonstration, which it then and there fixed for the 25th of March. The police did not shrink from the challenge; they actually went to the rendezvous and remained there till, and long after, the counter proclamation was issued by the wiser heads and second thoughts of the party, out of regard for their skins. How completely a few solid grains of fact turn the scales appon a great bulk of pumice-stone tissue.
